Creating Smart Exterior Spaces

 OUTDURE®

At Outdure, we know that stylish, durable solutions that are simple to install create the perfect alfresco experience.

OUTDURE + THE BLOCK

Building or renovating a home can be a big task. Add to this short deadlines, limited resources and being filmed for television – and it could be a recipe for disaster. That's why it was important for The Block Australia to choose quality and easy to use materials. So, when we got the call from the producers expressing interest in using our product for this season of The Block, we instantly knew our products were fit for the task!

Outdure is proud to be involved in The Block 2019 season. This brochure will share with you the behind-the-scenes glimpse on how to perfect that outdoor area, and how the contestants did just that using Outdure's products.

We'll share with you all the design tips for the Courtyard and the Rooftop, and what The Block contestants thought about working with Outdure's product.

The Block needed a durable solution suitable for both the courtyards and the rooftop deck areas. With limited heights, working over waterproofed areas and multiple drainage units that needed to be accessed regularly – there really was no other product on the market more suitable than Outdure's QwickBuild system. With the ability to finish off the area with tiles, decking, or turf - the design options are limitless.

“For us, the aesthetics of the tile is what made it our winning courtyard.”

COURTYARD DESIGN TIPS

All contestants created their own unique look using Outdure's surface ranges installed on Outdure's QwickBuild® framing system as the support structure. Because the framework is made from moisture-proof structural aluminium, instead of traditional timber sub-frames; it means you can install your deck or tiled area without having to worry about it rotting. QwickBuild easily enables a level finish between the deck and the interior floor level, so no step-down! The system is also a safe, stable and level alternative to wobbly 'pavers on pods'.

Here are the top tips for how each house achieved the look they were after...

Mitch and Mark decided on a fun and vibrant outdoor entertaining area. They selected our Mineral structural tiles in Oasis to complement the eclectic range of materials and tiled seats.

HOUSE 2

Tess and Luke's outdoor aesthetic is a dark and modern look to match the interior style of their home. To achieve this, they integrated two different Mineral range tiles in Oasis and Haze. Don't be afraid to create a wow factor using contrasting colours.

HOUSE 3

Deb and Andy wanted to create a beach feel style with natural accents, which they achieved with UltraPlush turf and Stone Inspire Omaha tile. The use of turf and creating planter boxes with lots of greenery, creates an outdoor oasis within a modern townhouse dwelling.

HOUSE 4

El'ise and Matt achieved a simple outdoor area that seamlessly integrated from their living room to the outside. They chose Stone Inspire in River finish for a natural effect.

HOUSE 5 – THE WINNERS (COVER)

Jesse and Mel opted to add a green wall as the key feature, complemented by Stone Inspire Omaha, for an elegant outdoor entertaining area and the beautifully crafted bench seats.

HOUSE 3

“The ability to create the indoor level with the outdoor using turf brought everything together for me. It’s honestly the way of the future.”

ROOFTOP DESIGN TIPS

The contestants got creative with the spaces integrating the high non-slip rated porcelain tiles with beautiful ResortDeck recycled, capped composite decking boards. The Stone Inspire tile range has a classic, organic finish and the Mineral range has a more modern, minimal aesthetic. As with the courtyards, QwickBuild was used as the sub-structure for all the rooftop decks, ideal because the frame profiles are low in height and durable.

Here are the top tips from The Block rooftops...

HOUSE 4

ResortDeck is beautiful like hardwood timber but has the added benefits of being very low maintenance and it is so durable that it keeps looking new for years.

STONE INSPIRE RIVER

RESORTDECK HAVANA

With land sizes getting smaller, utilising the rooftop as another outdoor entertaining space is a desirable lifestyle trend that increases the value of your property.

HOUSE 1

In keeping with the fun and vibrant look, Mitch and Mark went for Mineral tiles in Oasis to form the look of their relaxed dining space and BBQ area for those Saturday afternoon gatherings.

HOUSE 2

Tess and Luke selected ResortDeck in Sunset for a consistent dark, moody palette achieving a modern alfresco vibe.

HOUSE 3

To continue the natural theme throughout, Deb and Andy chose ResortDeck Havana boards for the relaxing 'sunset viewing' area.

HOUSE 4 – THE WINNERS

El'ise and Matt transformed their rooftop into a complete outdoor entertaining area with a bar, BBQ and outdoor fire. They combined Stone Inspire River tiles with ResortDeck Havana boards visually separating the firepit area and the outdoor kitchen. A curve was crafted into the deck/tile layout for extra impact.

HOUSE 5

A rooftop bar was the concept for Jesse and Mel who achieved a light modern feel with ResortDeck Seasalt and Mineral Oasis tiles to define the dining and outdoor kitchen areas.
