

Welcome Home..

..to where the interior climate of your home has been intelligently and automatically managed all day long!

VELUX ACTIVE will manage and adjust your indoor climate throughout the day.

-  by opening your skylights automatically when needed.
-  and closing them automatically when it's too hot or cold outside.
-  by automatically lowering your blinds on a hot afternoon.
-  by increasing ventilation when there's too much CO₂ in the room, or humidity from cooking or showers.
-  And you can control all of this remotely when required.

All this and much more is now achievable with the world leading technology available from VELUX ACTIVE.

What does it comprise?

VELUX ACTIVE has a wall climate sensor that measures the indoor climate in your home, a departure switch that mounts near your front door, and for when you don't want automatic operation, you can control everything remotely using your SmartPhone.

(Requires download of the VELUX ACTIVE App using iOS9.0 or Android 5.0 or later).

How does it work?

The climate sensor detects changes in the room temperature, CO² & humidity levels.

The online gateway collects local weather information from online sources in realtime.

The ACTIVE system compares the climate sensor data and local weather information to automatically control your products for the best indoor climate.

"Hey Siri - open my skylights please!"

The phone app gives you complete control over the automatic functions to operate your skylights directly from anywhere.

Leave your home with VELUX ACTIVE switched off for security with just one touch on the wall-mounted departure switch.

How do I get it for my home?

VELUX ACTIVE can be bought as a stand alone kit to work with existing compatible VELUX products, or purchased and installed along with any new VELUX products. Feel free to contact us below with any queries or for the details of your nearest installer.
