Planning is the key to trouble free installation. Here are a few questions that will help you make the best selection:

1. Is it a new build or retrofit installation? – This will determine the model available for your application.
2. What vent grille will look best for your bathroom? – Select from a variety of models with different vent grille options.
3. Where will the IsoDrive Motor be installed? – In most cases, the roof will be the easiest installation, but wall and eave mounting options are possible in some cases.
4. Do you require single room or two room extraction? – Select from a variety of models with different vent grille options.
5. How is the fan powered? – The BR500 system is powered by either an independent switch or integrating it into an existing wall switch. Installation by a registered Schweigen installer is recommended.
